Patient Relationship Management

“Patient Relationship Management feature of EHR signifies a set of services to help both patients and healthcare providers develop and maintain long-lasting fruitful relationships”

Health Awareness

A generic patient life cycle is divided into various health stakeholders viz. Doctor, Laboratory, Hospital, Insurance, Government, etc and globally more than 98 % of these stakeholders are not integrated with any common Information platform.

A patient in his health life cycle spends 500% more just because of lack of adequate analytics and health information at required time resulting into not just cost but also lack in quality care practices.

The Health Information Platform

H-Connect integrates heterogeneous health software applications and practices used worldwide to compile into a common platform and deliver it into meaningful methods used by different stakeholders

It offers seamless data integration, global access, unified reporting, alerts as well as analytics and research information which aims to change the health matrix across the globe.

Global health awareness on various diseases, diagnosis as well as proactive health care management topics are well defined and are transmitted to our web visitors in order to educate and develop awareness for raising the health bar.
